

JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN.

"ETERNAL VIGILANCE IS THE PRICE OF LIBERTY."

ESTABLISHED 1837

JACKSONVILLE, CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1894.

VOLUME 58.

W. F. Aldrich, candidate for congress in the Fourth District, is a life-long Republican. He was nominated as a Republican by a Republican convention. The Republican convention which nominated him was called by a Republican negro from Dallas by the name of C. H. Walker. The name of Aldrich was put in nomination by a Republican negro by the name of Bill Stevens of Calhoun. The nomination was seconded by a Republican negro from Dallas by the name of W. C. Grove.

There never has been a time when it was so important for the conservative men of Alabama to come together as now. The interests of Alabama, the interests of the South, demand that all prejudice, all malice, be relegated; that the people assert their manhood and rise above these baser passions and do that which is best for the country. We are now confronted by conditions which Senator Morgan and others predicted would exist as soon as the United States adopted the single gold standard. We see the cotton crop being forced upon the market and sold at five cents a pound. This price for cotton, with a debt hanging over nearly every farmer in the South, with the interest necessary to be paid for money, means ruin to the South and all her interests. The only way to correct the evil which has been inflicted upon the people of this country by unwise legislation, is for the conservative men to get together and make a determined fight for home and country. That one-half of those now inside the organization of the Democratic party are in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver and of an increase in the amount of our circulating medium sufficiently to transact the business of the country, was clearly demonstrated in the vote given to Capt. Joseph F. Johnston for Governor. These men are yet determined. They did not give up the fight when Captain Johnston was defeated for Governor. Neither has Captain Johnston relaxed his efforts for the measures which are to the interest of the people. The fight is still on inside the organization of the Democratic party.

That which is necessary to win the fight in Alabama for free silver, more money, better price for cotton, increased values for all our possessions, is for the conservative men among the Jeffersonians to unite with the conservative men who are making the fight inside the organization of the Democratic party.

We now have the best basis for this union of the conservative men in Alabama that we have had for years. In several of the congressional Districts, the fight for congress is a straight contest between Republicans and Democrats. The lines being thus drawn affords the best opportunity in the world for the conservative Jeffersonians to unite with the conservative men in the Democratic party. Under the recent ruling of the state executive committee, all those who vote for the Democratic nominee for congress will be qualified to participate in the primaries in the next State election. This is the opportunity for the free silver men in Alabama to place themselves in position to crush the life out of the sentiment in Alabama in favor of the single gold standard, by electing free silver men to every position to which they aspire in the next general election.

The financial embarrassment of this firm is caused by a failure to collect money due them, and to a falling off of traffic.

The assignment is a perfectly honorable one, and our people hope that these gentlemen in a very short while will make a satisfactory arrangement with their creditors, and will resume business and regain whatever money they have lost. The last two years have been exceedingly trying on all business houses who had sold goods on a credit and had their money in the country, and is really surprising that more failures have not been recorded than have.

More interest is being taken in the raising of horses, mules, cattle and hogs in this county than for years past, and we believe that much good would result from the organization of a Live Stock Association, where those interested in raising stock would be brought together monthly or quarterly to discuss the best plans and treatment of all live stock. Such an exchange of opinion and recital of experience could not fail to result in good to every farmer in the county.

Our Tax Assessor.

We are under obligations to our very worthy and efficient tax assessor Mr. B. G. McClellan, for the comparative statement of returns of taxable property for the year 1893 and 1894.

Mr. McClellan is a very painstaking and worthy official. He is making an efficient assessor as the county has probably ever had.

Messengers to Association.

The Calhoun County Baptist Association meets with the Oxford Baptist church on Thursday before the second Sunday in this month, and the Jacksonville Baptist church elected the following messengers last Sunday to represent it at the association: Rev. M. H. Lane, D. D., Hon. James Crook, Dr. T. W. Ayers, Messrs. J. Y. Henderson and S. G. Wright.

Quarterly Conference.

The last quarterly conference for the present year will be held at the Methodist church here today and tomorrow. Dr. Slaughter who has been the Presiding Elder on this district for the past four years, will preach his farewell sermon Sunday morning at eleven o'clock.

During his four years work on this district, Dr. Slaughter has made many friends, and he will carry with him to his new home next year the best wishes of all our people.

Cot Show.

It has been suggested that we arrange and have a cot show in Jacksonville during the month of November.

We think this a wise suggestion.

The people of the county are taking more interest in raising both horses and mules than they have for years before, and to have an exhibition here of the fine horse and mule colts which are to be seen in all portions of the county, would no doubt have the effect of stimulating the people of the county to greater efforts in raising good stock.

In connection with the exhibition of the colts, that is a good day to organize a Live Stock Association. Such an organization by having monthly or quarterly meetings for its members to exchange ideas as to raising horses, mules, cattle, sheep, goats and hogs, would no doubt prove very beneficial to the live stock interest of the county.

Let some of our people who feel an interest in raising good stock take this matter in charge.

Assignment.

Mess. Hammond & Crook, who have been doing a general mercantile business in Jacksonville for a number of years, made an assignment last Saturday to Ross W. Whisenant for the benefit of their creditors.

The financial embarrassment of this firm is caused by a failure to collect money due them, and to a falling off of traffic.

The assignment is a perfectly honorable one, and our people hope that these gentlemen in a very short while will make a satisfactory arrangement with their creditors, and will resume business and regain whatever money they have lost.

The last two years have been exceedingly trying on all business houses who had sold goods on a credit and had their money in the country, and is really surprising that more failures have not been recorded than have.

We learn from Dr. Linder that a fine alum spring has been discovered at Schenck's springs.

All the legislation of the Republican party is in favor of the wealthy class, and the people of the north and east. Its conventions speak of the income tax as "a tax on prosperity," and raise a how because it is feared the discrimination against the South will be checked.

Public Speaking.

Bon. W. F. Aldrich, the Republican candidate for Congress in the Fourth District, and T. G. Bowman Esq. of Birmingham, addressed a small audience of Calhoun county people in the court house in Jacksonville last Monday.

Mr. Aldrich was introduced by General J. W. Burke. The greater portion of his speech was devoted to a discussion of the tariff. He is thoroughly in accord with the Republican party on the tariff question. He attempted to show that it was even to the interest of the people of the South to have a high tariff. To our mind he showed conclusively that it was to the interest of the class in New England to have a high tariff, but as we saw his argument, he utterly failed to show where it was to the interest of the farmers of the South to be forced to pay a tax of from thirty to one hundred per cent on all they buy.

One argument which he used in favor of a high tariff was that it increased the purchasing power of a dollar. Just so. That's exactly what the people of New England want, and what the people of the South do not want. Whenever you increase the purchasing power of a dollar, you lessen the value of all our possessions in the South. This may suit a rich mine owner like Mr. Aldrich, but does not suit the farmers of the Fourth District who are in debt.

At the close of his speech, Mr. Aldrich said he was in favor of the free coinage of silver, but did not discuss the silver question, or say anything as to what ratio he favored. Even John Sherman will say that he favors the free coinage of silver.

At the close of Mr. Aldrich's speech, P. G. Bowman Esq. of Birmingham, was introduced, and made a brief, good natured speech.

CALHOUN'S WEALTH.

REAL AND PERSONAL PROPERTY RETURNED FOR TAXES.

Total Value for 1894 Only About 8 per cent Less than 1893.

There has been such a shrinkage in values for the past twelve months that it was expected there would be a heavy decrease in the amount of property in Calhoun returned to the tax assessor as compared with the return for 1893; but the assessor's book is now complete, and in footling up, it is found that the total shrinkage as returned amounts only to about eight per cent.

Believing that the people of the county will be interested in a study of the returns for this year, as compared with last year, we give the following comparative returns by beats:

19	15,373
Totals	$3,163,892

Total value of both real and personal for 1894, $1,611,510. For 1893, $9,916,826. Making a decrease for 1894 of $785,289.

Total amount of State and county tax for 1894, $82,453,86. For 1893, $87,521,43.

The large decrease in the value of personal property in beat 15, and the large increase in beat one, is due to the fact that the railroad property in this county was returned in beat 15 last year, and in beat one this year.

It is well known that during the past twelve months there has been a great shrinkage in values, and we think Calhoun is to be congratulated upon the fact that the total value of her property is within eight per cent as great as last year, and it is to be reasonably hoped that in 1895 the returns will be even greater than in 1893.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, the leading Republican paper west of the Mississippi river says:

"The Republican Party has scored a big success in Alabama by practically swallowing the Jeffersonian or Kolbly Party and the Populists."

This Republican sheet will see after the sixth of November that it is mistaken by a very large majority. While the Republican party has swallowed Bowman, Skaggs, and a few of the leaders in the State that they have succeeded in delivering the Jeffersonians who are fighting for principle can never be delivered into the camp of their old enemy—the Republican party.

Mr. Charles E. Peace of Ohio, has been a visitor to Jacksonville this week. In mingling with the people here he made a most favorable impression, and hereafter will always be a welcome visitor, and can feel that he is in the house of his friends.

THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

It was with much pleasure that the Calhoun county Institute met again greeted over the friends of the work. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Liston, after which the Institute proceeded to organize.

The meeting having been called after such short notice, there was no regular program so the Superintendent proceeded to arrange by consulting teachers upon topics they would like to discuss for the evening and for Saturday morning.

Prof. O. E. Bynum read before the Institute an essay upon the "Duties of a County Teacher," stating in a clear and forcible manner the responsibilities of a teacher in the influence he exerts. Prof.

Bynum emphasized the fact that the teacher should instill into the pupil the great principles of Christianity and morality, and that he should by no means neglect that culture of the heart which is so necessary an element in the development of true manhood and womanhood.

Other valuable remarks were made upon this subject, not the least of which were by Mrs. Read in her experience as a country teacher.

And it may be well to remark here the Institute is much gratified that the lady teachers are coming to the front in the discussions of the questions before the house. And to Mrs. Read would it extend expressions of special appreciation, and accord to her the honor of being the first to take a prominent part in the discussions of principles before the house. If the other lady teachers will follow the example, there is no reason why ours should not be the banner institute of the State.

The next subject commanding the special attention of the Institute was the able exponent of the "Principles of Penmanship" by Prof. Hudson.

There being no further business the Institute adjourned to meet at 8 p. m.

The evening session being a memorial service in memory of Professors Wright and Eddy and of Mrs. Rosa Anderson, a special prayer was offered by Rev. W. B. Witherspoon. Some fitting resolutions were offered by Prof. Forney and adopted, in regard to weaving a wreath for our deceased members

The Republican

By T. W. AYERS

SATURDAY, OCT. 6, 1894.

For Congress, Fourth District.
T. S. PLOWMAN,
of Talladega.

Plowman Wins.

A canvass of the returns from the several counties composing the Fourth Congressional District was made on Friday, Oct. 5th, at 10 o'clock in Jacksonville, Ala. By reason of the absence of Chairman T. W. Ayers, the Secretary of the Congressional Executive Committee, Jos. J. Arnold, canvassed and announced the result and declared Thomas S. Plowman, of Talladega, county, the democratic nominee for Congress of this District.

The following is the vote by counties, as appears from the face of the returns certified to by the county chairman:

GASTON A. ROBBIN'S VOTE.
Calhoun, 184; Cleburne, 220; Chilton, 224; Dallas, 960; Shelby, 276; Talladega, 333. Total, 2217.

JOHN M. CALDWELL'S VOTE.

Calhoun, 197; Cleburne, 208; Chilton, 69; Dallas, 182; Shelby, 240; Talladega, 55. Total, 2077.

THOMAS S. PLOWMAN'S VOTE.

Calhoun, 3; Cleburne 6; Chilton, 3; Dallas, 10; Shelby, 270; Talladega, 3061. Total, 3356.

It will be seen from the above that Mr. Plowman was nominated by a plurality of 679 votes.

WITHOUT a word of personal disparagement against Aldrich, the Republican nominee, it can be truthfully said that the political party whose flag he bears stands as the representative of all that is odious and distasteful to Southern minds. It is the party whose inusions and appointees mercilessly oppressed the Southern people in days gone. It is the party under whose regime, the credit of our State was impaired, its treasury looted, and all the functions of its government delivered over to ignorance, incapacity and crime. To write the history of the Republican party while in ascendancy in this State, would be the recital of a long line of infamous public acts that stand out in bold and ugly relief on the pages of our State's history, cursing the party with shame in the eyes of every true and honest man.

HON. THOMAS S. PLOWMAN, of Talladega is the standard bearer for the Democracy of this, the Fourth Congressional District of Alabama.

While the returns from the Congressional primary election and the declaration of the result of the same was received at a time which leaves but little space for comment and forbids such mention as our nominee deserves, yet it must be said that in the nomination of Mr. Plowman, the party presents to the voters of the Fourth District, a man characteristic for his business and executive capacity, spotless personal character, good legislative ability and one who has ever stood firm as adamant in the advocacy of the teachings of his party. He possesses every qualification that makes a true, faithful and competent representative—one about whose banner the forces of Democracy can rally and carry defeat to the enemies of good government.

CALHOUN has a number of able and promising young men, but probably no one who has more friends, or a brighter future, than Prof. J. W. Abercrombie of Anniston. We feel confident that there are honors in store for him which will be reaped before many years. He was urged by his friends to enter the race for congress this year, but declined to do so.

The Republican candidate in the Fourth District belongs to a party whose principles are uncompromisingly against the interest and welfare of the people of the South, and he certainly ought not expect the people to support a man for any position who favors legislation which will bring ruin and devastation to their section.

THE silver plank in the Ohio Democratic platform, which appeared on the first page of last paper, has the right ring about it. Give us the free and unlimited coinage of silver, and we will not again be forced to sell our grain live or six cents a pound.

WITH cotton down to five cents the Republicans are yet too full of something, will occur to benefit the people of the South.

This John Sherman single gold standard is not the thing for the South. Neither is the John Sherman McKinley-Tom Reed high tariff. In order to have prosperity in the South again, we must have a tariff for revenue only, and a free and unlimited coinage of silver.

Our people now have an opportunity of having some fine Photographs made as can be had anywhere. Mr. J. M. House, of Nashville, Tenn., is located on the public square for a short while and invites all to call and see specimens of his excellent work, which he is making at very reasonable prices. Mr. House guarantees his photos and finishes all work in Jackson.

A Household Treasure.
D. W. Fuller, of Canajoharie, N. Y., says that he always keeps Dr. King's New Discovery in the house and his family has always found the very best results follow its use; that he would not be without it, if present. His Liver was affected to an alarming degree, upon taking a shot, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitter cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrington Hill, had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitter and several boxes of Bucklin's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg. Doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitter and one box Bucklin's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold at all Drug Stores.

Mite Meeting.

Under the auspices of St. Luke's Episcopal Church a Mite Meeting will be held Monday evening at the residence of Mrs. Edwards. An entertaining program will be rendered and members of other churches cordially invited.

Prof. A. D. Glass was a welcome visitor to Jacksonville last Monday. He has been elected "principal" of the Alexandria school for the next scholastic year, and will open his school there soon. We know of no better place to build up a good school than Alexandria, and hope that he will succeed in building up a fine school.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis. was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism. His Stomach was disturbed. His Liver was affected to an alarming degree, upon taking a shot, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitter cured him.

BY FERGUSON
A HANSON C. ETC.
THE MYSTERY OF
A HANSON C. ETC.
BY THE AUTHOR.

"Francis," said I, repeating my thoughts aloud, "aye, Francis. I wonder if he has left the inn also or whether he has overleapt himself, and is still in his room?" Two miles sure I went upstairs to his bedroom. Pray observe that all this time I had not connected these things with "crime." It is true I had a faint suspicion that there might possibly be some foul play, but there was nothing to confirm such a belief. I abandoned the idea. I declare that when I knocked at the door of Francis Briarfield's room, I had no more idea of the horrible truth than the babe unborn. My premonitions pointed to mystery, but not to murder. Yet from the conversation of the previous night I might have guessed what had happened. The house was as confused as the palace of the Arctides, and I bided on the threshold stone.

Not until I had thrice knocked with one receiving any answer did my suspicions begin to form. Then they took shape in an instant. I tried the door. It was locked. The ominous silence still hinted at insatiable horrors. My knocking echoed jarringly through the stillness. At that moment there flashed before my eyes the picture of two figures flying across a red horizon against which blackened the beams of a gallows. It was the shadow of the future. I knocked. I called his name, and finally in desperation at the continued silence set my shoulder against the crazy door. It yielded with a tearing sound, and I entered the room amid a cloud of dust.

He was lying on the bed stiff and cold. I had no need to call, to touch his shoulder, to place my hand on his heart. He was dead. With the clothes drawn up smoothly to his chin lay the man with whom I had conversed the previous night. The right arm lay outside the counterpane. As the hand glistened a pearl ring. I looked at the table. I gazed at the wan face. The master was beyond all doubt Francis Briarfield had been murdered.

Before I could further examine the body or the room I was forced to run for my brandy flask. For the moment I was deadly sick, and it needed a long draft of the fiery spirit to stanch the streaming blood through my veins. The strange circumstance was a sufficient apology for such qualmishness. This lonely inn set on a bank of living ground amid quaking bogs, this dead body of what had once been a friend, this solitude by which I found myself environed, these were sufficient to shake the strongest nerve. It looks in a manner prosaic on black and white, but think of the horror of the actual experience.

For the moment I could formulate no idea on the subject. That my friend should be dead was sufficient to stun me. When reason came back, I asked myself how he died and who was responsible for the crime. The landlord, the maid, the brother, one of these three had murdered Francis Briarfield. But in what way?

I examined the body. It was clothed in nightgown, and the clothes lay folded up on the chair by the bedside. The face was calm; there were no marks of violence on the face or on the frame. Only on the violet lips lingered a slight curl of foam. The smooth bedclothes drawn up to the chin forbade the idea of a struggle. I looked at the right arm lying on the counterpane, at the hand, and there in the palm was a ragged wound from thumb to little finger. It was discolored at the edges and looked green and unwholesome. This livid appearance made me think of poison, but I was not sufficiently a doctor to diagnose the case correctly. Yet I was certain of one thing—that Francis Briarfield had come by his death in foul fashion, and that at the hands of whom?

Aye, there was the rub! So far as I knew, the landlord had no motive to commit such a crime. Suspicion pointed toward the maid who had wished to speak with the dead man after supper. Yet why should she desire his death? From the lips of Francis himself I had heard that he knew neither Street nor Rose, nor indeed aught of the Fen inn. Hither he had been brought by his brother's letter to keep an appointment, and was as ignorant of the inn of its inmates, of its surroundings as I.

Could Felix have committed this crime? True, if my theory were correct and he had passed himself off to Olivia Bellin as Francis, there were some grounds for believing he wished his brother out of the way. Francis would undoubtedly refuse to permit the decapitation to be carried on, so it was just possible that Felix, in a frenzy of wrath and terror at the idea of his treachery being exposed, might have slain his brother. Yet all this fine theory was upset by the fact that Felix had not arrived on the previous night to keep the appointment. He therefore must be guilty.

If so, what of the landlord and his daughter? Certainly they had no reason to slay a stranger who had such cook, the waiter, the housekeeper, the chambermaid? The house was a large one. Two people with all the will in the world could not thoroughly attend to the domestic economy of so great a mansion. Moreover, the girl had looked unwise to work. That in itself was suspicious.

"Can it be?" thought I. "Can it be that these two hired this inn to compass the death of Francis Briarfield, and that he was drawn here as into a snare by his brother's letter? On the face of it, it looks absurd, and yet in what other way can I explain the absence of servants, the mildewed aspect of the rooms? Now Francis is dead, and they, without a word to me, have departed."

I could not solve the mystery. But I had examined the surroundings, the door had been locked, and I could find no key. The window also was locked, and even had it not been so, one could have entered thereby, so considerable was the height from the ground. How, then, had the assassin gained admittance? Yet sure was I that Briarfield had been murdered, but by whom it was hard to say—say, impossible.

I did indeed think that he had committed suicide, but this was too wild an idea to entertain even for a moment. When I partied from him on the previous night, he was in the best of health, looking forward to meeting Miss Bellin, and was passably content with his life. There was no hint of self destruction either in speech or action. The thought that his brother had deceived him would not have engendered such an idea. Rather he was determined to unmask the traitor and regain his promised wife by force. Murder it might be. Suicide was out of the question.

Thus far I thrashed out the matter, yet arrived at no logical conclusion. As there seemed no signs of landlord and maid, it behoved me to consider what I should do. According to Francis, his brother was due at the meeting place that morning, so I deemed it advisable to wait until he arrived and then explain the circumstances to him. If he was in league with Street to murder his brother, he would hardly be able to disguise his joy at hearing the success of his plot. I therefore determined to watch his face during the interview, and if I saw therein any signs of guilt to those and then, in the lonely inn, then accuse him as a second Cain. By thus terrorizing his soul with such accusations and with the sight of justice I might force him into confession.

If he were guilty, I guessed the plea behind which he would shelter himself—that he had not been near the place on the previous night. This I would counter by the accusation that his emissaries had carried out his orders and then sought safety in flight. It might be that I suspected Felix wrongly, yet after the story told me by Francis I could not but think he was connected in some manner with the death of the latter. But after all, these suspicions were yet vague and aimless. All I knew for certain was that Francis Briarfield was dead. I swore on the instant to devote myself to finding out and punishing his detestable assassin.

Having come to this resolution, I propped up the open door, so as to close the entrance to the chamber of death, and descended to the lower regions. Finding victuals and fuel in the kitchen, I cooked myself a meal and made a sufficiently good breakfast. Then I lighted my pipe and took my seat at the front door to watch for the coming of Felix Briarfield. Whether my suspicions would be dispelled or confirmed by his demeanor I was of course unable to say until the interview took place. But I was most anxious to know.

All that morning I looked down the winding road to Marshminster, but saw no one coming therethrough. Not a soul was in sight, and if I did for a moment think that Street and his daughter might return and declare themselves innocent the thought was banished by a few hours' outlook. The inn, as I said before, was on a slight rise, and I could see far and wide. No human being was to be seen, and as the hours passed I grew almost horrified at the gossamer solitude. To be alone with a dead body in a lonely house in a lonely moor is hardly healthy for the mind.

Toward noon I took a resolution.

"If," said I, "the mountain won't come to Mohammed, why, then, Mohammed must go to the mountain."

The interpretation of this was that I intended to see Felix Briarfield at Bellin Hall, Marshminster. Face to face with him, and I would force him to explain why he had not kept the appointment. It seemed to me a suspicious circumstance. Perhaps Street had told him Francis was dead, and therefore it would be useless for him to ride to the Fen inn. If this were so, it would go a long way toward implicating him in the crime.

I re-entered the house, locked up everything, and strapping on my knapsack took my departure toward Marshminster. Some way down the road I looked back at the inn and saw it loom more grim and ghastly than ever. Even in the bright sunshine it could not appear otherwise than eerie, and it was with great pleasure that I left it behind. Yet under those sloping roofs Francis Briarfield lay dead, and it was to discover his assassin and avenge his death that I set my face toward Marshminster.

CHAPTER I.

Late in the afternoon I tramped into Marshminster. It was by no means my idea to make a long and wearisome journey.

Under the shadow of the cathedral tower dwelt relatives with whom I had before this spent school and college holidays. Their house was the goal of my pilgrimage, and a week's rest was to recuperate for the toils of the walking tour. The tragic sequence at the Fen inn affected all my plans. With an assassin to track there was no time for comfortable idleness. Francis Briarfield had my friend, and I owed it to him to avenge his death. It was beyond all reason that they should have no resistance. Where was the

"ETERNAL VIGILANCE IS THE PRICE OF LIBERTY."

ESTABLISHED 1837.

JACKSONVILLE, CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA.,

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1894.

VOLUME 53.

Now that the issue is clear and unmistakable between the Republican and Democratic parties in this Congressional District, there is no place, no opportunity for the time-server, the straddler, the trimmer. On the 6th day of November next, the voters are to say whether they believe in a centralized government wherein the rights and sovereignty of the States are subordinate to federal power; or in one wherein the rights of the individual and his equality under the laws are paramount, and the federal constitution held to be a "special grant of limited powers."

The Republican party comes to the people as the exponent of trusts, monopolies and combines, created and fostered by that most unjust and inequitable of all public policies—protection; as the author of enormous pension appropriations from a depleted public treasury; as the creator of a financial system that has brought commercial distress in its wake; as the advocate of a policy of oppression and vindictiveness towards the South.

On the other hand, the Democratic party, beginning with a legacy of Republican ills, after a brief rule, presents a tariff law which greatly reduces the cost of the necessities of life, while raising a revenue for governmental purposes; and which recognizes the truth that each should contribute to the maintenance of the government in proportion to his ability to pay, by levying a tax on the incomes of the wealthy. It has shown its unfriendliness to the abuse of trust and corporate power by the enactment of the most strenuous laws, regulating and restraining them. Forgetting sectional lines and mindful alone of merit, it has been most liberal and patriotic in recognition and treatment of the South. When the history and the public acts of the two parties are considered, it will not take the voters of the District long to decide to which they will throw their support.

The Age-Herald in discussing the new tariff bill, gives the following statement of an item in which Alabama will derive benefit from it:

"Coal from the Birmingham district has been shipped to Cuba and sold under the coal from any other country. But the profit has not been so large as it should have been, because of the excessive shipping rate. This rate was exorbitant, because it was not profitable to bring back a return cargo of Cuban exports on account of the high protective rates of the McKinley law. But now that the McKinley law has been repealed and the more equal democratic law substituted, it becomes profitable to bring back a cargo from Cuba to this country."

Already a party of Birmingham capitalists has been quick to see this advantage, and is now perfecting arrangement to establish a line of steamers between Mobile and Cuba.

These gentlemen are men of enterprise, energy and means, and know no such word as fail. The Southern Railway Company is interested with them, and will utilize its leased line, the Birmingham and Mobile railroad, which runs through the heart of the coal fields.

This line of steamers will be largely used in exporting the coal of the new mines to be opened in Walker County."

HON. W. Y. ATKINSON, the Democratic nominee for Governor of Georgia, defeated Hines, the Populist candidate, by a majority of 26,000 votes, in the recent elections of that State. The rest of the Democratic State ticket got 30,000 majority. In the State Legislature which meets Oct. 24th, the Democrats will have a majority of 123 in the House, and 37 in the Senate.

DAVID B. HILL has accepted the nomination for Governor of New York at the hands of the Democrats of that State; and there appears to be great confidence that he can bring together and harmonize the factions and discordant elements of the party. With this effected, the Democrats of the Empire State can look hopefully and with satisfaction to the result, which can mean nothing but a great Democratic victory.

THE TICKET COMPLETED.

AND DAVID B. HILL, DANIEL LOCKWOOD AND CHAS. F. BROWN.

Are The Party Leaders Of The Empire State Democracy in the Struggle for Good Government.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The uncertainty regarding the democratic ticket in this state has at length been removed, and the following ticket will take the field in the coming election:

For governor, David Bennett Hill of Elmira; for lieutenant-governor, Daniel Lockwood of Buffalo; court of appeals, Judge Charles F. Brown of Newburg.

This result was accomplished after a conference lasting all day, in which the members of the state committee, Senator Hill and the leaders of the party from all over participated.

Nearly all the members of the democratic state committee assembled at the Park Avenue hotel at 11 o'clock to day. They found very little to do, however, but wait, as the leaders of the party were holding a conference in the hotel in regard to the filling of the third place on the ticket.

The committee finally adjourned until 4 o'clock.

Shortly after 5 o'clock, at which hour the state committee was again in session, Lieutenant-Governor Sheahan announced that the committee would nominate Judge Chas. F. Brown of Newburg for judge of the court of appeals. This was the result of the all day conference between the leaders.

The committee went into session at 5 o'clock and at 5:30 it finished its labors. It was then announced that Judge Charles F. Brown had been unanimously nominated for the vacant place on the ticket.

Then the notification committee, headed by Major Hinckley, chairman of the state committee, proceeded up stairs to notify Senator Hill and Mr. Lockwood of their nominations.

Senator Hill, flanked on either side by Mayor Gilroy and W. Bourke Cockran, and followed by Mr. Lockwood and the other members of the notification committee, was escorted to the committee room.

There was a cheer from the assembled committee as Senator Hill entered the room. He stood with his back to the mantelpiece, holding some manuscript in his hand.

Mr. Lockwood, stood on Mr. Hill's right, while grouped in front were Mayor Gilroy, Delaney Nicol, Bourke Cockran and the other Tammany men.

Mr. Hill was then formally notified by Major Hinckley of his nomination. He bowed his head in acknowledgement, and a smile played over his face.

Then Congresswoman Cockran stepped forward and, standing in front of Mr. Hill, addressed him. As he was speaking his big form swayed to and fro, and his voice echoed through the room in impassioned accents.

"Senator Hill," said Mr. Cockran, "the committee of notification formally tenders you the nomination which was made in your presence in convention at Saratoga."

Senator Hill then made his reply, which was cheered to the echo. When he said he was ready to accept the nomination and would head the ticket in the coming campaign, the enthusiasm of the state committee knew no bounds.

After Mr. Hill had concluded Mr. Lockwood also replied, accepting the nomination for lieutenant-governor.

It is said that so much farm land in England has lately been allowed to lapse from cultivation that wild animals which ten years ago were in danger of extinction are now flourishing and increasing. The bader and the otter, for instance, are reported to be thriving greatly on agricultural depression.

PROF. C. W. DAUGETTE of Tallahassee has been recently elected by the board of Directors of the State Normal school at this place to fill the vacancy in the faculty of the school caused by the resignation of Miss Bessie Hale. Prof. Daugette is a graduate and post-graduate from the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Auburn, and after his graduation was retained by that college as a teacher. He comes bearing high and complimentary endorsements from some of the most eminent educators in the State.

The school should be congratulated on securing the services of a teacher who together with the other members of the faculty, can reflect great credit on the institution.

Hardly a week passes but some member of the family has need of it. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rheumatism or neuralgia quieted.

The severe pain of a burn or scald is promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine is sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third of the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate treatment before the parts become swollen, which can only be done when Pain Balm is at hand. A sore throat may be cured before it becomes serious. A troublesome corn may be removed by applying it twice a day for a week or two.

LETTER FROM SAM SIMS.

OXFORD, ALA., Oct. 10, 1894.

DEAR REPUBLICAN.—I am entirely satisfied with your correspondent, and do not wish or deem to trespass upon his territory, but I want my say occasionally, and I see you will indulge me. You see I get on considerable steam sometimes and feel constrained to say something or burst, and I have a great dislike to bursting, and rather like the saying. In looking over the election managers for the congressional election I would ask, has the law been strictly complied with? There is no Jeffersonian or Poplite candidate in the field, and hence that party is not entitled under the law to a manager at any box in the County, and where there is no competent republican in a beat in every home and so admirably adapted to the purpose for which it is intended, as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Hardly a week passes but some member of the family has need of it. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rheumatism or neuralgia quieted.

The severe pain of a burn or scald is promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine is sent for. #### STORY OF HIS USEFUL CAREER.

As early as 1830 his contributions in verse appeared in various periodicals, and his reputation as a poet was established by the delivery of a matrical essay, entitled "Poetry," which was followed by others in rapid succession. As a writer of songs, lyrics, and poems for festive occasions, he occupied first place. He was for many years a popular lecturer. In 1857, he commenced in the Atlantic Monthly a series of articles under the title "The Anteater at the Breakfast Table," which were followed in 1860 by "The professor at the breakfast table," in 1872 by "The poet at the breakfast table," and in 1885 by "The New Portfolio."

In addition he has published "Astraea," in 1850; "Currents and Counter currents in medical science," in 1861; "Elise Vener, a romance of destiny," in 1861; "Border-lands in some provinces of medical science," in 1862; "Songs in my keys," in 1864; "Soundings from the Atlantic," in 1864; "Humorous poems," in 1865; "The Guardian angel," in 1866; "Mechanism in thought, and morals," in 1870; "Songs of Many seasons," in 1874; "John L. Motley, a memoir," in 1876; "The Iron Gate, and other poems," in 1880; "Medical Essays," in 1882; "Poems from an old volume of life," in 1883; "Ralph Waldo Emerson," in 1884; "A mortal antipathy," in 1885; "Our hundred days in Europe," in 1887; "Before the cursor," in 1888; and numerous poems recited at various reunions and dinners.

HIS LAST DAYS AND HOURS.

In 1886 he visited England, where he was received with great cordiality. Additions of his poems have appeared from time to time, the first in 1883, the last in 1889.

He has contributed largely to current medical literature, as well to the literary journals and reviews.

A series of genial papers from his pen, entitled "Over the teacups," appeared in the Atlantic Monthly during 1890.

The end came at 12:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the venerable poet's town house, 296 Beale street. He was surrounded by his children, and visibly conscious of their presence up to within a few minutes of the last, though unable to speak. Then he closed his eyes wearily and seemed to fall asleep.

As indeed he did—the sleep of death, at which the whole world will mourn. His death was due to exhaustion following a severe attack of asthma.

FIVE RICH TREATS PREPARED THIS WINTER.

The Ladies of the First Presbyterian Church, Arrange for Some Events of Unusual Interest to Aid in Complementing Their Church.

The Presbyterian ladies have united as with one voice in determining to assist in the laudable work of completing the new church that is now under roof. They have undertaken a course of five lectures under the management of the Lyceum Bureau of Nashville, and will make every effort to interest the Amistion public and people in surrounding towns in these lectures, thereby helping to entertain the public as well as reap a reward for their zeal and enterprise.

Oliver Wendell Holmes was born at Cambridge, Mass., August 29, 1809. He was graduated at Harvard college in 1829, and began the study of law, which he subsequently abandoned for that of medicine. Having attended the hospitals of Paris, and other European cities he commenced practice in Boston in 1836. In 1836 he was elected professor of anatomy and physiology in Dartmouth college, and in 1847 was appointed to a similar professorship in the Massachusetts medical school, from which he retired in 1852.

STORY OF HIS USEFUL CAREER.

BEVERLY, Mass., October 8.—The death of Oliver Wendell Holmes has cast a gloom over the city. It came unexpected yesterday and was a blow to his friends in all parts of the country.

John Temple Grays, introduced from every platform in the country as successor to the mantle and mission of Henry W. Grady, whom Grady eulogized by saying he has the most phenomenal eloquence I ever heard, will lecture on the night of November the eleventh on the Daughters of Eve.

Dr. Madison C. Peters, a noted divine of New York City, will follow this lecture December the twelfth with his famous discourse on Courtship, Marriage and Divorce.

After a lapse of two months, on March the twenty-fifth, the great impersonator, Edward Elliott will give his rendition of Hazel Kirk, and in April the course will close with the world famed Schubert Quartet, Club.

These lectures recommend themselves, and the ladies who have interested themselves in the success of this elevating and instructive course, appeal to all the citizens of Amistion to patronize them and make them a success.

GOV. WILLIAM C. OATES.

NASHVILLE, Oct. 6.—Several days ago the state democratic committee sent a pressing invitation to Governor-elect W. C. Oates of Alabama, asking him to make speeches in Tennessee. In response to the invitation Colonel Oates stated that other matters would prevent his speaking at Memphis, and asked if next Monday or Thursday would do for Nashville.

Chairman W. C. Carroll of the state democratic committee wired Colonel Oates that Thursday night would suit best and now preparations are being made to accommodate the thousands of people who will come to hear this distinguished statesman.

WILL NOT ENDORSE ALDRICH.

Not only will the Jeffersonians refuse to endorse Aldrich, the Republican candidate for Congress, but those who belong to the Peoples party straight will not endorse him.

The Peoples party of Talladega county has declined to endorse him as is shown from the following which we take from the Mountain Home:

"At a meeting of the Peoples party of Talladega county, held September 22, 1894, in the city of Talladega, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

That being unrepresented by any candidate of our faith, we the reform party of Talladega county decline to endorse the nominees of either the Democratic or Republican parties for Congress."

It will be seen from the following extract, written by Secy. of War, Carville to Representative John T. Heard, that the government through its mints located at San Francisco, Philadelphia and New Orleans is coming heavily into possession purchased under the Sherman law:

Dear Sir: Referring to our personal interview this morning, I have the honor to say that the mints at New Orleans, Philadelphia and San Francisco are engaged in coining standard silver dollars from the bullion purchased under the act of July 14, 1890, commonly known as the Sherman law. During the month of July $40,000 were coined, and during the month of August $728,000. About the same amount will be coined during the present month, September, and thereafter such amount will be coined as the Secretary may consider advisable under the circumstances.

The third section of the act of July 14, 1890, provided that the Secretary of the Treasury should coin each month into standard dollars 2,000,000 ounces of the silver bullion purchased under the provisions of that act until the 1st day of July, 1891, and thereafter he should coin of the silver bullion purchased under the provisions of the act as much as

By T. W. ANDERS

SATURDAY, OCT. 13, 1894

For Congress, Fourth District,
T. S. PLOWMAN,
of Talladega.

Capt. Plowman's Proposition.

All who are interested in the success of the Democratic party, regrettably, have recently seen the political affairs of the Fourth District have taken recently.

First, it was unfortunate for the party that Mr. Wood should have been nominated and resigned the nomination at as late a day as he did.

Then it is exceedingly unfortunate that the recent primaries should have been so conducted as to justify even a suspicion of fraud.

As is known, after the return of the District had been canvassed, and Capt. Thomas S. Plowman declared the nominee, open charges of fraud as to the vote of Talladega county were made by the Anniston Hot Blast and Selma Times.

These charges brought from Capt. Plowman the following mainly telegram to Messrs. Robbins and Caldwell:

In view of the statement published in the Anniston Hot Blast of October 5, questioning the regularity of my nomination as the result of the Democratic primary in the Fourth Congressional district, I respectfully request that you unite with me in requesting the chairman to convene the Democratic State executive committee at the earliest possible moment to pass upon the matter. I do not desire the nomination unless fairly secured, and if the State committee decide that improper method has been employed to secure my nomination I am willing at its best to retire in favor of any qualified Democrat who may be recommended by the committee.

The interest of the party rises higher than that of any individual, and I am not willing that any personal ambition of mine should imperil the harmony or integrity of the party, in whose service the best years of my life have been spent.

This proposition of Capt. Plowman was accepted by Robbins and Caldwell, and the State executive committee met last Thursday and at this writing is considering the vote in the primary, and will probably not reach a conclusion before we go to press.

We suggest to the Montgomery Advertiser that if it had been less intolerant for the past several years that the Democratic party in Alabama would be much stronger than it is to day. We hope however that the check which General Shultz used to curb the Advertiser's intolerance during the last congressional election will be used again this year by Col. Tompkins. With the aid of such men as Gen. Shultz and Col. Tompkins we hope the Advertiser will yet come around all right, and we are not disposed to have ugly words to say about it just now.

AT the request of a telegram from Hon. H. C. Tompkins, chairman, Jas. J. Arnold, Esq., went down to Montgomery Friday night to carry returns of the recent District primary, and to be present at the trial of the contest now before the State executive committee.

WE are not surprised to hear that the Montgomery Advertiser is not pleased with the editorials which appear in the REPUBLICAN in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver. Of course it could not be pleased with them as long as it stays in line with John Sherman on the question of finance.

THE Montgomery Advertiser need spend no sleepless nights over the policy of the REPUBLICAN. This paper will continue to labor to again reunite the white men of this section in the organization of the Democratic party.

THERE need be no fear as to the result of the election in the Fourth District. While we will be late in opening the campaign, the Democratic nominee will be elected and have several thousand votes to spare.

THE Democracy of the Fourth District is perfectly willing to abide the decision of the State executive committee, and will cheerfully support the nominees as declared by that committee.

On the 20th of last month before the state executive committee, General Pettus appears for Mr. Caldwells, T. S. S. Smith, of Montgomery, and W. C. Tunstall, Jr., of Anniston, for Mrs. Caldwell; and Messrs. Joseph White of Montgomery and Cecil Brown of Talladega for Mr. Plowman.

I would rather trust that medicine than any "doctor I know of," says Mrs. Hattie Mason of Hillman, Carter Co., Mo., in speaking of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by dealers.

The Grant residence, occupied by Mrs. Kirk, caught fire last Friday morning from a burning out-building. The kitchen was destroyed, and it was only by the best work of the fire companies and citizens that the residence was saved.

The fire boys worked nobly at the fire Friday morning, and deserve the thanks of our entire citizenship. These boys give their work gratuitously to save the property of the town, and by all means should be supplied with the very best implements for fighting fire.

We learn that Miss Calhoun, who is teaching at Whites Gap church, is succeeding in building up a good school at that place. She is a most excellent teacher and the patrons of the school are very much pleased with her.

Prof. C. W. Daugette will be quite an acquisition to the Normal School at this place. He is thoroughly prepared to conduct an experimental station, and it is the purpose of Prof. Forney to make this an attractive feature of the school. The faculty of the school is now complete and ready for the best work the school has ever done.

Miss Mauie Ward returned last Wednesday from a visit to Wilson Ridge, in the northern portion of Calhoun, where she taught last summer, and will again teach this winter. The school at that place is sustained by Mr. D. B. Thompson of Watertown, Conn. Several years ago Mr. Thompson bought a large body of mineral and timber land at Wilson Ridge, and during his visits there he was impressed with the necessity of a school to educate the poor children of the community. He had erected on his land a comfortable school building, and not only affords free tuition to the children of that community, but pays for all their books, and supplies the school with charts, maps, etc.

A citizen of Jacksonville who has had considerable experience in building mountain roads, has gone carefully over the proposed change in the White Plains road, and by the aid and suggestions of Hon. W. C. Scarbrough, has located a route which shortens the distance over first route surveyed, and reduces the grade to not more than five feet in one hundred. The county surveyor, Mr. Morton, will go over the route next Monday again. The citizens of Jacksonville are requested to furnish a few hands to go with Mr. Morton to blaze out the route. This they will willingly do. This change is such an improvement over present road that there can be no doubt about its completion.

The Synod of the Cumberland Presbyterian church meets here on Thursday, and delegates are already coming in.

Miss Mary Lou Moody ran over to Atlanta on Monday, and will return on Saturday. When I say ran I don't mean that she walked, I mean that the train, on which she departed, ran.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Andrews drove down to Oxford on Wednesday to visit relatives, and attend the Baptist Association.

T. Math Alexander has been at home for a few days trying to play the languid invalid.

Mr. Wickes made a flying trip to Atlanta on Tuesday, returning on Wednesday.

Mr. L Ferguson made a hurried trip to Monroe on Monday night to see his daughter, Mrs. Wyatt, who we regret to hear, is seriously ill.

Ed Dempsey and Walt Wool left on the down train Friday night for Dallas, Texas.

Some of the ladies are having cottage prayer-meetings every Thursday afternoon. May they not weary in well doing.

Our honorable Mayor, W. J. Brock, has a new boarder at his house—a young lady who arrived on Monday night, and who is, as yet, nameless.

While Dr. Kennebrew and family were at supper last Saturday evening, some sneak thief went in to a front bed room and turned the bedding upside down hunting for money, it is supposed. Failing to find any, and being pressed for time, he carried the top bureau drawer away with him to rifle at his leisure.

The dogs got after him, the Dr. ran out, and dropping the drawer in the back yard the thief leaped the fence and departed. He captured a purse of Mrs. Kinnebrew's containing some change, but the Drs. pocket-book was overlooked. It is a good plan to close the front door when you go out to supper.

Mr. Hollis Parish is visiting here among friends. He is the son of Rev. Mr. Parish, who was once the beloved pastor of the Methodist church at this place, and is welcomed for his father's sake as well as his own.

Physical culture is quite a fad with the girls, and Mrs. Stevenson has now twenty-three in her class.

On Thursday night, the 4th inst., Mrs. W. M. Elgin breathed her last. She had long been a patient sufferer from consumption, and the tender care of her devoted husband could only smooth her pathway to the tomb.

She was a most estimable Christian lady, and it may truly be said that "none knew her but to love her, none named her but to praise." Her pastor, Rev. Mr. Liston conducted the beautiful and impressive funeral service, and universally beloved and regretted, she was laid away in that dreamless sleep which knows no waking.

The friends of Mrs. Sherrill, nee Miss Josie Elgin, will be sorry to learn that sickness has assailed her while on her bridal trip, and she is ill with fever at Niagara.

MIDDLETON.

Rev. B. Nunnelly dreamed of riding a bicycle one night last week but when he attempted to ride it, it bucked with him.

Commissioner M. N. Coker went over to the chalybeate spring last week. While there, he met one of his old friends who learned him some new "political tricks."

Our school opens on the first Monday in November.

The farmers are rushing to get their crops gathered before the winter rains.

We have two prosperous Sabbath schools at Middleton; a Baptist and a Union. We invite all the people to attend them.

Ullman Bros. had their Hall opening on the 11th inst. From 10 o'clock in the morning till late in the evening their store was crowded. There has never been a grander display of dress goods in this section and the display did not consist of dress goods only, but of everything usually kept in establishments such as theirs. The ladies were simply delighted, and their delight found expression in frequent exclamations as they were conducted from department to department.

The Republican

By T. W. AYERS.

SATURDAY, OCT. 20, 1894.

For Congress, Fourth District,
HON. GASTON A. ROBBINS. of Dallas.

A Pleasant Duty.

We take very great pleasure in placing the name of Hon. Gaston A. Robbins at the head of the REPUBLICAN as our candidate for congress in the Fourth District. It should indeed be a pleasure to every voter to support a man who as a representative has dealt honorably with his constituents, and who has properly represented their interest on every measure which has come before him.

At this day it seems to be a popular custom for representatives to either dodge important questions or to misrepresent their people; and it gives us pleasure to be able to say that no such charge can be brought against Gaston A. Robbins.

Two years ago he went before the people and promised that he would give his vote and influence in support of certain measures if he was honored with a seat in the national congress. His frankness and earnestness impressed the people that he was an honorable gentleman. They trusted him and elected him by six thousand majority. He now comes before the people and his friends are able to say for him that he has not betrayed a trust, that he has kept every pledge which he made, that he did not dodge a single issue which came before the last congress, and that he properly represented his district in every vote which he cast. No living man could be more faithful to the trust imposed than he has been. He promised the people if elected he would vote to reduce taxation. This he did. He promised if elected he would favor an income tax bill. This promise he kept. He promised if elected he would favor the free and unlimited coinage of silver. This pledge he faithfully kept by voting against the unconditional repeal of the Sherman bill, and in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1.

On the money question he stood by the people of his district like a man. Now the free silver men of the district should act like men and stand by him on the 6th of November. They should not agree to stay away from the polls and decline to vote, but should show that they are in earnest in their fight for the free and unlimited coinage of silver by going to the polls and standing by their representative who stood by the white metal in the last congress. There is too much involved in this fight to give up a man who is known to be all right, and every man who has his heart in this cause should go to the polls on the 6th of November and cast his ballot for Gaston A. Robbins, our tried and true representative.

A Happy Marriage.

Monday morning at the residence of Gen. J. W. Burke, Miss Martha J. Duplessis and Mr. Norman Pittman were united in the bonds of matrimony.

Rev. Father McDonell, S. J., of Selma officiated. At 10 o'clock the bridal party marched into the parlor to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by the sister of the bride, Miss Marie Duplessis. The bridegroom, Miss Burke, entered first accompanied by the groom. Then followed the bride in all her loveliness, leaning on the arms of Mr. Frank Burke. Rev. Father McDonell delivered a very pretty and impressive address to the bride and groom and friends present. After which the ceremony was performed while "Call Me Thine Own" was softly played. The bride and bridesmaids were attired in white organdies trimmed with satin. Owing to the recent death of the mother of the bride, only a few intimate friends of the bride were present.

At this day it seems to be a popular custom for representatives to either dodge important questions or to misrepresent their people; and it gives us pleasure to be able to say that no such charge can be brought against Gaston A. Robbins.

Two years ago he went before the people and promised that he would give his vote and influence in support of certain measures if he was honored with a seat in the national congress. His frankness and earnestness impressed the people that he was an honorable gentleman. They trusted him and elected him by six thousand majority. He now comes before the people and his friends are able to say for him that he has not betrayed a trust, that he has kept every pledge which he made, that he did not dodge a single issue which came before the last congress, and that he properly represented his district in every vote which he cast. No living man could be more faithful to the trust imposed than he has been. He promised the people if elected he would vote to reduce taxation. This he did. This pledge he faithfully kept by voting against the unconditional repeal of the Sherman bill, and in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1.

On the money question he stood by the people of his district like a man. Now the free silver men of the district should act like men and stand by him on the 6th of November. They should not agree to stay away from the polls and decline to vote, but should show that they are in earnest in their fight for the free and unlimited coinage of silver by going to the polls and standing by their representative who stood by the white metal in the last congress. There is too much involved in this fight to give up a man who is known to be all right, and every man who has his heart in this cause should go to the polls on the 6th of November and cast his ballot for Gaston A. ### ANNISTON

Well, another convention has come and gone. While it was not altogether serene, it was entirely different from the one held on the fourth day of September. Aside from the differences which arose in the Calhoun delegation, there was nothing unbecoming in the convention's deliberation. As everybody knows, the Hon. G. A. Robbins was the victorious contestant. Although disappointed in the defeat of our gallant home candidate, Hon. John M. Caldwell, we are unanimous in our desire for the triumphant election of Mr. Robbins. Democracy has spoken, and we, as loyal democrats, will do as we have always done, viz: Put our shoulders to the wheel, and on the sixth day of November, roll up a rousing majority for the nominee.

Messrs. Plowman, Brothers and Caldwell made able and eloquent speeches before the convention, congratulating Mr. Robbins on his victory, and pledging him their hearty and active support from now till the election. They are willing to subordinate their desires in the interest of Democracy and good government. They are true men, indeed, of whom all good people should be proud. Would that we had more such citizens.

The grandest old man in the nation, Senator John T. Morgan, has been a visitor in our city this week. He was invited to address the convention on Monday, just after the nomination of Mr. Robbins. On mention of his name, the convention and audience went wild; and when he was introduced, the scene was unparalleled in the history of fourth district conventions. For almost an hour, he expounded pure democratic doctrine in an able, eloquent, argumentative, convincing, and a masterful manner. Several ladies were present, and the party was enthused and strengthened.

Senator Morgan will make several speeches in this district during the campaign. He says Robbins is the right man in the right place, and so say the people.

It was the intention of the electric line, so we are reliably informed, to discontinue its car service on the 15th; but, at the solicitation of various business men, it was decided to run on till the 1st of November. At that time, if some absolutely necessary money arrangements have not been consummated, the cars will stop.

Quite a number of citizens came down Monday from Jacksonville, to attend the political gathering. We are always glad to meet those who live in the Capital city. A closer bond of union and effort should exist between Calhoun's two chief towns, anyway.

Cotton is coming in rapidly now. Anniston is the best cotton market in this part of Alabama.

Our merchants are getting in new goods daily, and the results of the new Democratic tariff law is plainly visible in the decreased prices at which they are sold.

Some of our people are slightly of the opinion that political trading, especially in things congressional, is unwise, uncertain, and unpleasant.

The Calhoun Hotel is nearing completion.

CHOCOLOC

Mr. A. S. Scarborough's gin house caught fire last Saturday, and, but for his neighbors gathering in the house with several bales cotton would have been destroyed.

Brook Hughes cut will in Harrisville, quite severely, and came very near killing him. Harris is a very insolent negro, and we learn disputed Hughes word.

Mrs. English spent several days at Anniston last week.

Rev. M. G. Milligan and wife are attending the Synod of the Cumberland Presbyterian church at Piedmont.

Miss Lida Davis has been on a visit near Opelika.

Mr. Jones of near Rome is visiting the family of Dr. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds of Anniston, spent Sabbath here. Also Col. Fred Blackman was here Sunday.

Hon. W. C. Scarborough is here on a visit.

Mr. Marion Whiteside and wife of White Plains, spent Sunday in our city.

MORRISVILLE

The Calhoun Rifles are to have an oyster supper and ice cream festival next Friday night, Oct. 19th. It takes money to run a military company and the boys have decided that they will give the people something good to eat, and a good time too, in exchange for a little financial assistance. T. B. Cooper was elected Junior Second Lieutenant of the company on the 12th inst.

Messrs. Plowman, Brothers and Caldwell made able and eloquent speeches before the convention, congratulating Mr. Robbins on his victory, and pledging him their hearty and active support from now till the election. They are willing to subordinate their desires in the interest of Democracy and good government. They are true men, indeed, of whom all good people should be proud. Would that we had more such citizens.

The new Cooper building is going up rapidly, and now it is only a question of a short time before one of the waste places of Oxford will be ornamented with a handsome modern structure.

Prof. Bernard Autrey and family, recently of Atlanta, are stopping for the present with Prof. Dodson. Prof. and Mrs. Autrey have been very successful as educators, having taught for a number of years at Brewton, Ala., at which place they built up a splendid school.

The news has just reached your correspondent that a volcano has been discovered about three miles west of town. Immense volumes of smoke are visible in that direction and two men have already been out to see it, but they didn't dare approach nearer than two or three hundred yards, and at that distance their investigation was necessarily imperfect.

At the present writing, another party has gone out to inspect the burning mountain. One of our citizens says he recently heard chattering noise in the direction of the newly discovered wonder, and of course this is strong evidence of its reality.

We have often heard of "fire and brimstone" breaking forth in Georgia, but to best of our knowledge, such a thing never occurred before in Alabama.

Mr. F. D. Foster, should Oxford become a second Pompeii, we hope to be found here like the sentinel of old—at our post engaged in the performance of our duty.

Quid rides?

DEARMANVILLE

The day is hard times, but the one d'nl's excursion to Atlanta caught a g. crowd.

A large number of the Third party people have said that they would vote for Robbins.

The large number of the Peoples Tribune sent here to Mr. G. A. Wright, said that they would vote for Robbins.

Many fine beef cattle in this section, but the low price force farmers to hold them.

The nomination of Mr. Robbins gives satisfaction in this section. He should have been nominated at first.

LIFE SAVED BY

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

Seven years ago, my wife had a severe attack of lung trouble which the physicians could not cure.

The cough was extremely disagreeable, especially at night, and was frequent.

Attracted by the spitting of blood,

the doctors being unable to help her,

I induced her to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was surprised at the great relief it gave. Before using one whole bottle, she was cured, so that now she is quite strong and healthy. That this medicine saved my wife's life, I have no

the least doubt. — K. Morris, Men-

JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN.

"ETERNAL VIGILANCE IS THE PRICE OF LIBERTY."

ESTABLISHED 1857.

JACKSONVILLE, CALHOUN COUNTY, ALA.,

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1894.

VOLUME 50.

ALABAMA'S distinguished citizen Hon. Jos. F. Johnston will address the people of Calhoun county in the court house at Jacksonville next Wednesday, Oct. 31st. It is expected that the people in all portions of the county come out and hear Capt. Johnston on this occasion. He is an able and interesting speaker, and those who have not heard him, should not lose this opportunity to hear him.

The white men in the Fourth District who vote the Republican ticket on the 6th of November will be ashamed of it as long as they live.

The Lowndes Pioneer, a Populist paper, in referring to the condition in the Fourth District, and particularly in Talladega county, says: "Maj. Philander Morgan, of that county, perhaps the ablest and best man among the populists of the state, writes the editor of this paper as follows: 'I would be untrue to myself, untrue to my political faith, and untrue to the principles of my party, were I to consent to endorse even a pro-silver Republican.'

The idea that the Republican party is in favor of fair elections is too ridiculous to be claimed by any sane man. Not only has it stolen a number of States, but in 1873 perpetrated the fraud of even deceiving congress of the United States and demonetizing silver. Not only stopped the coining of silver, but demonetized that already in circulation. This it accomplished by a strict party vote, all the Republicans voting for it, and all the Democrats against it. This shows the honor and trustworthiness of the Republican party.

BEFORE the white men of Calhoun county cast a ballot for a Republican, let them think of the treatment this county received at the hands of that party; let them think of the day when the Republican party by the aid of the bayonet took Judge Burrell T. Pope, a true Southern judge as ever breathed the breath of life, off the bench in the court house in Jacksonville and dragged him to jail. Let them think that the same day Gabe Doubtful, an other true Southern man, was also placed behind the bars. Let them also remember that because his Southern manhood led him to denounce such treatment, that old uncle Billy Hughes, a paralyzed citizen who was even unable to walk, was literally dragged to jail and locked behind the bars. Let them remember that the Republican party has always been the enemy of the South and its people.

WHITE men of the Fourth District Read and think, and see if you can afford to fail to go to the polls and vote for Hon. Gaston A. Robbins, who has stood nobly by the people of his District and the people of the South. This is now no factional fight. Mr. Robbins is opposed by W. F. Aldrich, a life-long Republican, and a McKinley tariffite. Aldrich was nominated as a Republican by a convention called by a negro Republican, C. H. Walker of Dallas. He was placed in nomination by a negro Republican by the name of Bill Stevens, of Calhoun. The nomination was seconded by a negro Republican by the name of W. C. Grove, of Dallas. He now appears before the people as the candidate of that convention. Can you Southern born white men support him? Can you Jeffersonians, you men who believe in the free and unlimited coining of silver, afford to stay at home and not vote for Hon. Gaston A. Robbins, who has stood by the people on every important question, when he is opposed by the high tariff Republican placed in nomination by negroes before a convention called by a negro? Think of these questions deliberately before you decide not to go to the polls and vote for Robbins.

HON. GASTON A. ROBBINS ADDRESSES THE PEOPLE OF CALHOUN

In the Court House in Jacksonville, He Discussed Intelligently the Important Issues.

Hon. Gaston A. Robbins, the Democratic nominee for congress in the Fourth District, in addressing the people of Calhoun county in the court house in Jacksonville last Monday, discussed in an intelligent and practical manner the important questions considered by the last congress, and gave an account of his stewardship as the Representative of the Fourth District.

Our space will not permit us to give even an outline of Mr. Robbins very able speech, and we will give only the statement of the positions which he took upon the most important questions now before the people.

He was introduced as a Representative who had faithfully and honorably represented his District, in that he had kept every pledge which he made the people in his canvass two years ago.

In opening his speech he stated that there was no factionalism in his fight. That factional lines were now entirely obliterated, and that this was a straight fight between the Democrats and Republicans. That on the 6th of November every voter would be called upon to take his place in line either with the Democrats or the Republicans. He insisted that no Southern white man should turn the back of his hand upon the South and all her interests by voting the Republican ticket.

In discussing the tariff he held that no party could justly tax the masses to enrich the few. This principle of protection he said was one of the basic principles of the Republican party. The leaders of that party claim that a high protection to our industries enrich the laborers; but where are the laboring men who have grown rich under the operation of McKinley's tariff law?

As an example of the effect of high tariff upon the interest of agriculture, he called attention to the condition of the farmers in Ohio. Where the farmers of that State were once independent, prosperous, and happy, the effect of a high tariff caused the census of 1890 to show that they were now bound down with a mortgage indebtedness of $165. per capita.

A protective tariff causes the masses to suffer, while the few grow rich. Twenty years ago there were few millionaires; now there are thousands. They made their millions by the organizations of trusts and combines under Republican legislation. But now, thanks to the efforts of the greatest man in the United States Senate, John T. Morgan, a clause was inserted in the recent tariff bill which makes it a crime to organize a trust on articles which the people need.

He said the Democrats had already listed many of the burdens of taxation off the people, and will yet list more. Goods will be cheaper this year than ever before. He was opposed to a bounty being paid on any article. In the Democratic tariff no bounty was paid to the sugar manufacturers. They were no more entitled to a bounty, than are the cotton raisers of the South.

The hope of the South is to manufacture its own cotton, and looking to this end he introduced a bill to put all machinery used in the manufacture of cotton goods on the free list. With a sufficient number of factories in the South to manufacture all our cotton into merchantable goods, we will then give employment to all our idle people, and the South will then have an unparalleled prosperity based upon a foundation as solid as a rock.

He said tax should be uniform as to sections and individuals. Under this head he discussed the income tax. This he said was a righteous tax, because it taxes what a man has instead of what he used. He said he not only favored the income tax feature of the present tariff bill, but was in favor of increasing it to at least four per cent. He said it was expensive for the government to protect property, and the millionaire should pay his prorate share.

In discussing the silver question he stated that he voted for the free and unlimited coining of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, and was still in favor of it at that ratio. He insisted that to have true bimetallism, silver must be on an equality with gold. That the two metals must be coined without discriminating against one metal in favor of the other. He believed when silver was thus coined, there would be no trouble in maintaining the ratio between the two metals.

In a word, our Representative places himself squarely in favor of a revenue only sufficient to defray the expenses of the government honorably and economically administered. As opposed to all combines and trusts, and to the payment of bounties to any individuals. As in favor of a larger income tax than the one embodied in the present tariff bill. As in favor of the free and unlimited coining of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1.

Circuit Court.

Judge Box was unavoidably detained last Monday on account of the railroad connection, and did not reach Jacksonville to open the Circuit court until Tuesday morning.

Tuesday morning the court was called, and the grand jury organized by the selection of C. D. Martin as foreman. The charge of Judge Box was brief and clear.

He did not fail to charge the jury that it was its duty to inquire into the recent elections held in this county, and stated if any fraud had been committed, the guilty should be indicted as the law directs.

Only a few cases have been disposed of to the time we go to press. Next week we will give complete list of all cases tried.

Both Judge Box and Solicitor Wilson are looking well, and seem to be in good condition to undergo the duties of running the court. In addition to the local bar, we notice the following lawyers in attendance: From Anniston: Messrs. Willett, McLeod, Knox, Carthel, Whiteside, Pelham, Agey, Mathews, Savage, Coleman, Piedmont; Brock, Cook, Wilson, Keer; Gadsden: Burnette; Talladega: Dickson.

Back from California.

A few weeks ago Mr. J. T. Nunnelly and his family left Jacksonville for Los Angeles, California, to make their future home in that far off State.

Last Sunday their friends in Jacksonville were astonished to learn that the entire family had returned. They came without a word of warning to any of their friends.

Before Mr. Nunnelly left Jacksonville he made an arrangement for work in a shop in Los Angeles with an old friend. A few days after his arrival in the city which was to be his new home, his friend died. This changed all his plans, and as he was not able to make another arrangement which was entirely satisfactory, he decided to return to his old home. He and his excellent family have received a hearty welcome back to Jacksonville by their friends.

Mr. Nunnelly says that white California is a great State, he found all business trades and professions crowded, and his advice to Alabamians is to stay in Alabama.

It is a very noticeable fact that at all the Democratic gatherings in the Fourth District the mention of the name of John T. Morgan is greeted with the loudest applause. This love for the grand old man is no doubt demonstrated in all the Districts in Alabama as it is in the Fourth.

The chairman of the Democratic executive committee in the Seventh District, Col. B. H. Nicholson, makes some ugly charges against W. M. Howard, the young Populist candidate, who wants to go to congress to reform the terrible state of morals which his recent book says exists there.

Colonel Nicholson first affirms that Howard was expelled from the Baptist church near the town of Cave Spring, Ga., for his connection with the criminal and fraudulent sale of some property. Mr. Jack Ellis, of Cave Spring, testifies to his expulsion.

Judge Franklin, of Fort Payne, Ala., testifies to having run Howard away from his house for playing cards with negroes for money. John Williams, a negro, makes affidavit that he has gambled with Howard on Sunday several times.

As to the third accusation Colonel Nicholson says:

"Mr. Howard desires to go to congress to reform the terrible state of morals which his book says exist there, and yet, while living at Fort Payne, he showed his fitness to institute such a reformation."

"On a certain night he made a prayer in the church, the fervor of which was the talk of the town next day. On his return home from his devotional exercises he filled an engagement of another character. This is the kind of a man who desires to reform congress. In support of this statement we have in our possession affidavits of Mr. Jerome Harrison, formerly of Fort Payne, now of Chattanooga, Tenn., who ran Howard out of the hog pen, and who afterwards fired at him to run him from the premises. The details of the statement in this affidavit cannot be published as the United States mail regulations would forbid its passage through the mails. We also refer to Mr. S. J. Slaney. The affidavit was subscribed and sworn to before Mr. D. M. Agey, notary public, Chattanooga, Tenn."

Resolved: That the Christian church, of whatever name, is based on the theory that woman was created inferior and secondary to man, and brought into the world and caused the sacrifice of a Savior. That Christianity is false and its foundation a myth.

Resolved: That every church is the enemy of liberty and progress, and the chief means of enslaving woman's conscience and reason, and that therefore, as the first and most important step towards her emancipation, we should free her from the bondage of the church."

We ask the reader to stop, turn back, and read over again, and slowly, these astonishing resolutions. At first reading, the full force of their mischievous import will not be gathered.

Did you note these words: "CHRISTIANITY IS FALSE, AND ITS FOUNDATION A MYTH?" Do you endorse that statement?

Here is another sweeping declaration: "Every church is the enemy of liberty and progress, and the chief means of enslaving woman's conscience and reason."

"EVERY CHURCH!" This includes the Catholics; the Hebrews; the Episcopalians; the Christians; the Baptists; the Methodists; the Presbyterians; the Cumberland Presbyterians; and all others. Are all these good people engaged in the wicked work of enslaving woman's conscience and reason?

Who believes it?

Who is this that thus assaults every church? It is The Woman's National Liberal Union.

Mr. William F. Aldrich, of Alabama, was the temporary secretary of the meeting at which these monstrous utterances were made. He made the deal with Tom Page, another negro, who did knock Smith down with them near the voting grounds.

Fred Holeman, another negro, on oath, substantiates Brown's statement.

Then comes R. M. Huffman, a poor man and a workingman, who swears that Howard falsely swore he was not a member of the firm of Howard Bros., thereby saddling an honest debt due him (Huffman) upon his (Howard's) two impudent and financially irresponsible brothers.

SEVERAL of the leading farmers of the county have asked us to call a meeting for the organization of the Agricultural and Live Stock Association. They say that much good will result from holding a meeting in the court-house once a month and devoting one or two days in relating experiences and observations as to the best modes of farming and raising stock. This meeting will probably be called during November or December.

GOV. ELECT ATKINSON is to be inaugurated Governor of Georgia to-day. With the retirement of Governor Northern, Georgia gives up one of the purest and most efficient Governors that State has ever had to serve as her chief magistrate.

ALL those who vote for the Democratic nominees for congress this year will be qualified to participate in the Democratic primaries two years hence.

He is a protective tariff republican. Therefore, he is not a proper man to represent a district composed almost entirely of men who are opposed to being taxed for the benefit of Yankee manufacturers and owners of coal mines.

He denounces "EVERY CHURCH."

Therefore, he is not a proper person to represent in congress a constituency made up largely of Catholics, and Episcopalians, and Christians, and Methodists, and Presbyterians, and Baptists, and Hebrews, and Cumberland Presbyterians, and members of other churches and men and women who do not belong to any church, but who believe in the churches of this

In February, 1890, in Willard Hall, in the City of Washington, there were held sessions of the Woman's National Union. This Union is composed of those who believe that the Woman's Suffrage Association has not gone far enough into the matter of woman's wrongs.

So says the account of the meetings. The executive Committee of this Union adopted some rash and startling resolutions. Here is a sample of them:

"Resolved: That the Christian church, of whatever name, is based on the theory that woman was created inferior and secondary to man, and that therefore, as the first and most important step towards her emancipation, we should free her from the bondage of the church."

The Republican

By T. W. LAYERS

SATURDAY, OCT. 27, 1894.

For Congress, Fourth District,
HON. GASTON A. ROBBINS,
of Dallas.

Not the Man for the South.

W. P. Aldrich, the Republican candidate for congress in the Fourth District is, so far as we know, a very clever Republican. We shall have nothing to say of his personal character. But his ideas of many things do not suit the people of the South. He brought them with him from his Northern home. He does not think and talk as do our Southern people.

Not only do his ideas of political matters differ from ours, but even upon questions which involve the very foundation of the Christian churches, his views are abominable to our people.

As an example, he believes in transmigration—the passing of the soul of one person into the body of another, according to the opinion of Pythagoras.

We presume that there is not another man in the Fourth District who for a moment would consider such a heresy as this.

We ask that the reader carefully read the proceedings of the Woman's National Union, published on the first page of this paper, and then decide whether or not Aldrich is a proper man to represent this District in congress. He is a prominent member and an official in that organization. There the Christian church, of whatever name, is denounced as "false and its foundation a myth."

Every church is denounced as the "enemy of liberty and progress," and it is proposed to free woman from "the bondage of the church."

W. F. Aldrich was the temporary secretary and chairman of committee on organization of the meeting which adopted these monstrous resolutions denouncing the Christian church.

With the views which Aldrich holds, he certainly is not a suitable man to represent a District where the people believe that without the Christian church our government would crumble, and we would be barbarians and heathens.

The faith of the people of this country is grounded in the Christian churches, and will most certainly promote no man who would strike them down.

If you are in favor of reducing the per capita of the circulating medium in the South and West still below what it is at present, and of increasing it in the North and East at the expense of this section, then you can afford to vote for Aldrich, the Republican candidate for congress, who is in favor of a high tariff, which robs the South and West in the interest of the North and East.

The Age Herald reports that the Republican czar, Tom Reed of Maine, is to make some speeches for Aldrich from the platform of the East Tennessee train running from Piedmont to Selma. It is no wonder that this defender of the Force bill should be for Aldrich, but it is a wonder that Southern born white men should favor him.

HON. GASTON A. ROBBINS stands with both feet on the Chicago platform and insists that every pledge made in that platform should be redeemed. This is the kind of a representative the people of the Fourth District want to vote for.

After the Republican party has done all in its power to crush the Southern people, to destroy our homes, to bring ruin and devastation to the South, we cannot believe that any considerable number of white men in the South can be led to vote the Republican ticket.

The Jacksonville Normal School never did better work than it is doing now; and those who expect to teach, will find it to their interest to come here and graduate. Nearly all the graduates of this school now have splendid positions.

EVERY man in the Fourth District who possibly can do so, should go to Talladega next Tuesday and hear Speaker Crisp discuss the political issues now before the people.

No matter what bargain or trade certain leaders among the Third party in this State have made, they cannot deliver the men who are Jeffersonians from principle to the support of Aldrich, the Republican nominee for congress.

Let the Democrats in every bed thoroughly organize, and see to it on the day of election that no Tennessean fails to go to the polls.

HON. GASTON A. ROBBINS is spoken of all over the Fourth District as the "people's choice."

HOW

The Watch Stopped!

A man about to boil water for his husband's breakfast, asked the boy of his watch to time the boiling. "Your watch has stopped," she cried, "the time is long, it ought to run in the kettle." The husband hastened to the oven, and was greatly surprised to find the woman had dropped his elegant gold watch into the kettle, holding the ear to hear it. The boy, who had been sent to the kitchen, ran into the master's hands to have the water taken out, and be put in order. J. P. ## ANNISTON

For several days our people have had something new to talk about. It was the volcano reported to have burst forth on the top of Cold Water mountain. Everybody could see the smoke and smell the sulphurous vapors. Many feared that the Model City would be destroyed as was Pompeii of old. Many said it would advertise us to the world, and that the result would be an influx of people and money. But all of fears have been appeased; all of our hopes have been blighted. It turns out, on investigation, that there is no volcano here abouts; that what we have taken for a volcanic eruption is but the wood-air.

Robbins will make a clear sweep here. Col. Caldwell and his friends are enthusiastic for him. The few Jeffersonians who are here say they cannot and will not support Aldrich. They prefer Robbins. The Democratic majority promises to be greater than ever before.

Wendling, the renowned orator of Illinois, lectured at the opera house on Tuesday night. His audience was large, appreciative and cultured. The subject of his discourse was Stonewall Jackson. His dictum was faultless; his manner, captivating; his oratory, of the highest type. Those who failed to hear him missed a treat.

It is thought by those in position to know that we are on the eve of better times.

We were pained to hear of the illness of our worthy and popular sheriff, Col. Ed. Caldwell.

There is quite a great deal of sickness in our city at present. The influenza is epidemic here, and many people, both young and old, have fallen victims.

There is no medicine so often needed in every home and admirably adapted to the purpose for which it is intended, as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Hardly a week passes but some member of the family has need of it. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rheumatism or neuralgia quieted.

Rev. F. M. Jones preached at Cameron Springs academy last Sunday. The severe pain of a burn or scald promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third of the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate treatment before the parts become swollen, which can only be done when Pain Balm is at hand. A sore throat may be cured before it becomes serious. A troublesome corn may be removed by applying it twice a day for a week or two.

A lame back may be cured and several days of valuable time saved or a pain in the side or chest relieved without paying a doctor bill.

Procure a 50 cent bottle at once and you will never regret it. For sale by dealers.

Every mother should know that croup can be prevented. The first symptom of true croup is hoarseness. This is followed by a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given freely as the child becomes hoarse or even after the cough has developed it will prevent the attack. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by dealers.
